

YOUR CAREER JOURNEY

Just like a traditional canoe journey, you may come across bumpy waters in your career, which can offer personal transformation. CPABC is here to offer support where we can.

Join us as you progress in your career journey. CPABC is pleased to offer free virtual career workshops for Indigenous participants to learn how to find work in a virtual world. While these workshops are designed for Indigenous youth (aged 15-30), anyone can join!

Delivered virtually to any Indigenous community in British Columbia, these workshops are hosted by CPABC including our career planning, HR, and Indigenous support staff. The sessions are objective and do not include CPA content or recruitment material.

All you have to do is book a session with us and gather your participants. Our team will do the rest, including providing workshop materials, marketing support, staff & facilitators, and hosting the session.

Sessions are approximately 3 hours long. We can tailor the workshops based on your community's needs, including integration of elders, as well as providing additional educational and post-secondary support.

Workshop Topics:

- Your career journey
- Your first job and what to expect
- Resumes, cover letters, references
- Virtual interview preparation
- Mock interviews
- Legal questions to ask in an interview
- Understanding employment standards and sick leave (COVID-19)
- Understanding your pay cheque
- Job search strategies
- Other Resources and Q&A

There will be prizes and giveaways at the workshops.

For more information or to book a virtual session, contact:

Danielle Levine, BA, MBA

Director, Interdepartmental New Initiatives
dlevine@bccpa.ca | 778 773 0189